

CLAT 2025 Question Paper with Solution Set A

Passage:

From a very early age, I knew that when I grew up, I should be a writer. I had the lonely child's habit of making up stories and holding conversations with imaginary persons, and I think from the very start my literary ambitions were mixed up with the feeling of being isolated and undervalued. I knew that I had a facility with words and a power of facing unpleasant facts, and I felt that this created a sort of private world in which I could get my own back for my failure in everyday life. I wanted to write enormous naturalistic novels with unhappy endings, full of detailed descriptions and arresting similes, and also full of purple passages in which words were used partly for the sake of their sound. I give all this background information because I do not think one can assess a writer's motives without knowing something of his early development. His subject-matter will be determined by the age he lives in - at least this is true in tumultuous, revolutionary ages like our own - but before he ever begins to write he will have acquired an emotional attitude from which he will never completely escape. It is his job to discipline his temperament, but if he escapes from his early influences altogether, he will have killed his impulse to write. I think there are four great motives for writing, at any rate for writing prose. They are: (i) Sheer egoism: Desire to seem clever, to be talked about, to be remembered after death, to get your own back on grown-ups who snubbed you in childhood; (ii) Aesthetic enthusiasm: Desire to share an experience which one feels is valuable and ought not to be missed (iii) Historical impulse: Desire to see things as they are, to find out true facts and store them up for the use of posterity (iv) Political purpose: Desire to push the world in a certain direction, to alter other people's idea of the kind of society that they should strive after. Passage:

Education is not the amount of information that is put into your brain and runs riot there, undigested, all your life. We must have life-building, man-making, character-making assimilation of ideas.... If education were identical with information, the libraries are the sages in the world and encyclopaedias are the rishis. Getting by heart the thoughts of others in a foreign language and stuffing your brain with them and taking some University degree, you consider yourself educated. Is this education? What is the goal of your education? Open your eyes and see what a piteous cry for food is rising in the land of Bharata, proverbial for its food. Will your education fulfill this want? We want that education by which character is formed, strength of mind is increased, the intellect is expanded and by which one can stand on one's own feet. What we need to study independent of foreign control, different branches of the knowledge that is our own, and with it the English language and Western science; we need technical education and all else that will develop industries so that men instead of seeking for service may earn enough to provide for themselves and save against a rainy day. The end of all education, all training, should be man-making. The end and aim of all training are to make the man grow. The training by which the current expression of will are brought under control and become fruitful, is called education. Passage:

The right kind of education consists in understanding the child as he is without imposing upon him an ideal of what we think he should be. To enclose him in the framework of an ideal is to encourage him to conform, which breeds fear and produces in him a constant conflict between what he is and what he should be: and all inward conflicts have their outward manifestations in society. If the parent loves the child, he observes him, he studies his tendencies, his moods, and peculiarities. It is only when one feels no love for the child that one imposes upon him an ideal, for then one's ambitions are trying to fulfill themselves in him, wanting him to become this or that. If one loves, not the ideal but the child, then there is a possibility of helping him to understand himself as he is. Ideals are a convenient escape, and the teacher who follows them is incapable of understanding his students and dealing with them intelligently; for him, the future ideal, the what should be, is far more important than the present child. The pursuit of an ideal excludes love, and without love no human problem can be solved. If the teacher is of the right kind, he will not depend on a method, but will study each individual pupil. In our relationship with children and young people, we are not dealing with mechanical devices that can be quickly repaired, but with living beings who are impressionable, volatile, sensitive, afraid, affectionate: and to deal with them, we have to have great understanding, the strength of patience and love. When we lack these, we look to quick and easy remedies and hope for marvellous and automatic results. If we are unaware, mechanical in our attitudes and actions, we fight shy of any demand upon us that is disturbing and that cannot be met by an automatic response, and this is one of our major difficulties in education. (Extract with edits from "The right kind of Education" by J. Krishna Murti)

- (C) The teacher should focus on how a child should be according to his/her methodology, hope, or expectation
- (D) Parents and teachers should work together collectively to guide a child on what she/he should do as per their ambitions

Correct Answer: (A) The right kind of education for a child cannot be without love, care and

- (A) Because children are impressionable, volatile, sensitive, and affectionate
- (B) Because of major difficulties in education
- (C) Because we lack intelligence and skills
- (D) Because we lack understanding, patience and love

Correct Answer: (A) Because children are impressionable, volatile, sensitive, and affectionate

Solution: The passage suggests that our desire for quick and easy solutions stems from our understanding of children's impressionable and sensitive nature, leading us to seek quick fixes that might not always be in the best interest of their development.

Passage:

The "Nari Shakti Vandan Adhiniyam", 2023 Act received near-unanimous support in both the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha. The legislation mandates the reservation of one-third of all seats in the Lok Sabha, state legislative assemblies, and Delhi (as a of one-third of all seats in the Lok Sabha, state legislative assemblies, and Delhi (as a union territory with an elected assembly) for women. This linking of the implementation of the Act to the implementing of two long-term exercises of census and delimitation, makes little sense to many, and sounds quite like empowerment delayed for now. In a 2012 article Holding Up Half the Sky: Reservations for Women in India', Rudolf C Heredia breaks down the common misconceptions that cloud our understanding of women's political participation- "When women do attain a national leadership role it is often because they have inherited the mantle from their fathers or husbands, rather than as persons in their own right and are then projected as matriarchs, part of the joint family, complementary to the patriarchy rather than a challenge to it.” In ‘Equality versus Empowerment: Women in Indian Legislature’, 2023, Soumya Bhowmick makes the case for going a step beyond quotas, and to turn our attention to the complexities that shape women’s agency in the country. This, he argues, would require a bottoms-up approach, rather than merely handing out reservations in a top-down manner. ”In a country like India with a considerably large heterogeneous population, the dissemination of legislative power would be insufficient to protect the interests of minority groups such as women, Scheduled Castes, and Scheduled Tribes.’ He concludes that ”implementing the idea of reservation for women would bring about descriptive representation, but its transformation into substantive representation would depend on the change in the attitudes of the people.” While the reservation of one-third of seats for women belonging to the scheduled castes and tribes under the amendment to article 330a and 332 of the constitution is a welcome step, it remains to be seen whether it fully acknowledges the complex interplay of hierarchies, socio-political relationships which also affect the extent and nature of complications that surround effective realisation of women’s politics for Indian politics to emerge as a truly emancipatory space.

Passage:

During the First World War, Indian merchants and industrialists wanted protection against imports of foreign goods, and a rupee-sterling foreign exchange ratio that would discourage imports. To organise business interests, they formed the Indian Industrial and Commercial Congress in 1920 and the Federation of the Indian Chamber of Commerce and Industries (FICCI) in 1927. The industrialists attacked colonial control over the Indian economy, and supported the Civil Disobedience Movement when it was first launched. They gave financial assistance and refused to buy or sell imported goods. After the failure of the Round Table Conference, business groups were no longer uniformly enthusiastic. They were apprehensive of the spread of militant activities, and worried about prolonged disruption of business, as well as of the growing influence of socialism amongst the younger members of the Congress. The industrial working classes did not participate in the Civil Disobedience Movement in large numbers, except in the Nagpur region. As the industrialists came closer to the Congress, workers stayed aloof. But in spite of that, some workers did participate in the Civil Disobedience Movement, selectively adopting some of the ideas of the Gandhian programme, like boycott of foreign goods, as part of their own movements against low wages and poor working conditions. There were strikes by railway workers in 1930 and dockworkers in 1932. In 1930, thousands of workers in Chotanagpur wore Gandhi caps and participated in protest rallies and boycott campaigns. But the Congress was reluctant to include workers' demands as part of its programme of struggle. It felt that this would alienate industrialists and divide the anti-imperial forces. Another important feature of the Civil Disobedience Movement was the large-scale participation of women. During Gandhiji's salt march, thousands of women came out of their homes to listen to him. They participated in protest marches, manufactured salt, and picketed foreign cloth and liquor shops. Many went to jail.

Solution: The Civil Disobedience Movement was marked by symbolic acts of non-violent resistance, such as breaking the salt law and manufacturing salt at Dandi, demonstrating opposition to British colonial policies.

Quick Tip

The Salt March, where Gandhi broke the salt law, was one of the key events of the Civil Disobedience Movement.

Passage:

In keeping with the slogan for this year's Olympics, "Games Wide Open," the opening ceremony took place outside a stadium setting by the river for the first time. In many respects, the Paris Games turned out to be one of the most elaborate cultural rituals since Covid swept across the world beginning in late 2019. Health restrictions forced the organizers of Tokyo 2020 and Beijing 2022 to sharply limit the scale of the festivities, with events largely closed to the public. Paris 2024, powered in part by pent-up demand for communal experiences, symbolized an international post-pandemic vibe shift.

The International Olympic Committee and French officials managed strict security measures in place. Yet the recent history of violence in France, including the 2015 terror attack in Paris that left 138 people dead and at least 16 injured, stabilized public consciousness prior to the games. The geopolitical backdrop for the Paris Games was no less troubling. The war between Israel and Hamas, which had crossed the six-month mark, raised fears of a protracted conflict and instability. The devastation in the Gaza Strip has provoked international unrest, isolating much of the region from the global stage. Meanwhile, Russia continues its military offensive against Ukraine, as global concerns about authoritarianism grow.

These international crises raised serious political dilemmas that could come into play during the Games in the form of protests and other political demonstrations.

Nevertheless, Olympics organizers put on a show that stunned the throngs assembled on the boulevards of Paris, not to mention the millions of people who watched the Games unfold on their televisions and mobile devices. At the Paris 2024 Olympics, India secured a total of six medals: one silver and five bronze, which was one down from the highest haul of medals at the previous Olympics. Neeraj Chopra earned a silver in men's javelin with an 89.45-meter throw, narrowly missing gold to Pakistan's Arshad Nadeem. Shooter Manu Bhaker made history by clinching bronze in the women's 10 m air pistol, becoming the first Indian woman to win a medal in Olympic shooting. The men's hockey team achieved a second consecutive bronze, defeating Spain 2-1, with captain Harmanpreet Singh scoring both goals.

Passage:

The 42nd Constitutional Amendment Act 1976 introduced the concept of environmental protection in an explicit manner into the Constitution through introduction of Article 48-A and Article 51-A (g). In many judgments, the Supreme Court ruled that both the state and its residents have a fundamental duty to preserve and protect their natural resources. The recent judgment obliquely makes way for an enforceable right, and a potential obligation on the state unless the same is overturned by an Act of Parliament. India is signatory of various international environmental conservation treaties under which India has the binding commitment to reduce carbon emission. During the COP 21. India signed Paris Agreement along with 196 countries, under which universally binding agreement was made to limit greenhouse gas emission to levels that would prevent global temperatures from increasing to more than 1.5 degree Celsius before the industrial revolution. India has committed to generating 50renewable resources and will generate 500 GW of energy from non-fossil fuels by 2030, reducing the carbon emission by

1 billion ton. Additionally, India has committed to achieve net zero carbon emission target by 2070. Supreme Court's March 21, 2024 verdict builds on the bulwark of jurisprudence in place since 1986, and, through various other judgments, the Supreme Court has recognised the right to clean environment along with right to clean air, water and soil free from pollution which is absolutely necessary for the enjoyment of life. Any disturbance with these basic elements of environment would amount to violation of Article 21. It also establishes duty of the state to maintain ecological balance and hygienic environment. Although right to clean environment has existed, by recognizing the right against climate change it shall compel the states to prioritize environmental protection and sustainable development. (Extracted, with edits and revision, from "Supreme Court of India bolts Right to Life with climate justice", The Economic Times, 06-05-2024)

Question 59. In which among the following, changes were introduced for environmental protection through the Constitution of India (42nd Amendment) Act?

While protecting all living creatures aligns with broader interpretations of environmental ethics, the constitutional provision directly refers to forests, wildlife, rivers, and lakes.

Quick Tip

Article 51-A(g) includes protecting rivers, lakes, forests, and wildlife as part of citizens' duties.

Quick Tip

Article 21 includes the right to a clean and pollution-free environment as part of the right to life.

Passage:

The Contract Act 1872 deals with contract law in India, its rights, duties, and exceptions arising out of it. Section 2(h) of the Act gives us the definition of a contract, which is simply an agreement enforceable by law. To understand the difference between void agreements and voidable contracts it is important to talk about sections 2(h), 2(a), 2(1), 2(d), 14, 16 (3) and 15, 24-28 of the Indian Contract Act. Void agreements are fundamentally invalid, making them unenforceable by default. These agreements cannot be fulfilled as they consist of illegal elements, and they cannot be enforced even after subjecting it to both parties. However, in the case of a voidable contract, the agreement is initially enforceable, but it is later on denied at the option of either of the parties due to various reasons.

Unless rejected by a party, this contract will remain valid and enforceable. The party who is at the disadvantage due to any circumstance applicable to the contract has the ability to render the agreement void. A void agreement is void ab initio, making it impossible to rectify any defects in it, while voidable contracts can be rectified. In the case of a void agreement, neither of the parties is subject to any compensation for any losses, but voidable contracts have some remedies. A valid agreement forms a contract that may again be either valid or voidable. The primary difference between a void agreement and voidable contract is that a void agreement cannot be converted into a contract.

Question 65. Which of the following best describes a void agreement?

1. An agreement that is valid until declared invalid by a court
2. An agreement that has no legal effect from the beginning
3. An agreement that is legally enforceable
4. An agreement that can be enforced if one party chooses to do so

Correct Answer: (2) An agreement that has no legal effect from the beginning

Solution: A void agreement is one that has no legal effect from the beginning and cannot be enforced under any circumstances. It is fundamentally invalid, even before any legal action is taken.

Quick Tip

Void agreements are essentially null and cannot be corrected or enforced by either party.

Question 66. A contract between two parties to rob a bank and share the proceeds equally can be termed as:

1. Void Contract
2. Valid Contract
3. Voidable Contract
4. Legally Enforceable Contract

Correct Answer: (1) Void Contract

Solution: A contract to rob a bank is illegal and therefore a void contract. Such an agreement is void ab initio (from the beginning) and cannot be enforced by law.

Quick Tip

Contracts involving illegal activities are void and unenforceable under any circumstances.

Question 67. An agreement made by an adult but involving a minor child where the signatory is a minor child himself, this agreement would be:

1. A valid and enforceable agreement
2. A voidable agreement
3. A void agreement
4. An agreement that cannot be enforced by the minor

Correct Answer: (3) A void agreement

Solution: A contract made by a minor is void as per the Indian Contract Act. Such agreements are not enforceable by law, regardless of the other party's consent.

Quick Tip

Contracts with minors are typically considered void, as minors lack the capacity to enter into legal agreements.

Question 68. Which of the following scenarios would most likely result in a void agreement?

1. An agreement signed by someone under duress
2. A contract with mutually agreed terms to sell a house
3. An agreement to pay 10 lakhs on getting a government job
4. A contract with a minor who understands the terms

Correct Answer: (3) An agreement to pay 10 lakhs on getting a government job

Solution: An agreement to pay a certain sum based on the occurrence of an uncertain event like getting a government job could be void due to lack of certainty and legality. It involves an illegal condition, making the agreement void.

Quick Tip

Agreements based on illegal or uncertain conditions are often void and unenforceable.

Question 69. An agreement made without consideration is generally:

1. Valid agreement
2. Enforceable agreement
3. Void agreement
4. Voidable agreement

Correct Answer: (3) Void agreement

Solution: An agreement made without consideration is generally considered a void agreement, as consideration is an essential element for a valid contract under the Indian Contract Act.

Quick Tip

For an agreement to be legally enforceable, it must involve valid consideration.

Passage:

Geographical Indications (GIs) are a form of intellectual property that designates a product as originating from a specific geographic location, where a given quality, reputation, or other characteristic is essentially attributable to its geographic origin. GIs protect names that are used to identify products with specific qualities or characteristics due to their geographic origin. For example, 'Champagne' refers to sparkling wine produced in the Champagne region of France, and 'Darjeeling Tea' refers to tea grown in the Darjeeling region of India. The protection of GIs ensures that only products genuinely originating from a specific region are allowed to use the geographical name. This helps maintain the product's reputation and quality, prevents misuse or imitation, and supports local economies by promoting regional products. International agreements such as the TRIPS Agreement under the World Trade Organization (WTO) provide a framework for the protection of GIs globally.

Question 70. Which of the following statements about Geographical Indications (GIs) is not true?

- (A) GIs are protected under international law to ensure that only products from specific regions can use the GI name.
- (B) The use of a GI name can be legally challenged if it is used by products not originating from the specified region.
- (C) Geographical Indications (GI) can be used to any product which is licensed regardless of its place of origin.
- (D) The TRIPS Agreement under the WTO establishes a framework for the protection of GIs on a global scale.

Correct Answer: (C) Geographical Indications (GI) can be used to any product which is licensed regardless of its place of origin.

Solution: GIs are strictly tied to the geographical origin of a product. They cannot be used for products that do not originate from the designated location, even if licensed. This ensures the protection of the authenticity and reputation of the product.

Quick Tip

Geographical Indications are tied to a specific place of origin and cannot be used for products from other regions.

Question 71. If a product named "Darjeeling Tea" is produced outside of the Darjeeling region, which of the following legal actions is likely to be taken under GI protection laws?

- (A) The product can still be sold but with a disclaimer about its true origin
- (B) The use of the GI name "Darjeeling Tea" can be legally contested and potentially prohibited
- (C) The product can be sold under a different GI name of "Not Darjeeling Tea"
- (D) The product can be marketed as "Darjeeling Tea" and will face no legal consequences

Correct Answer: (B) The use of the GI name "Darjeeling Tea" can be legally contested and potentially prohibited.

Solution: GI protection laws prohibit the misuse of GI names for products not originating from the specified region. Such misuse can be legally challenged to protect the product's authenticity and maintain its reputation.

Quick Tip

Misuse of a GI name, like "Darjeeling Tea," can lead to legal action to protect its authenticity.

Question 72. Which of the following is not a potential consequence of the misuse of a Geographical Indication?

- (A) Loss of consumer trust in the authenticity of the product.
- (B) Decrease in the market value of the GI-protected product.

- (D) Potential Legal action of infringement against the misuse.

Correct Answer: (C) Compulsory license on the patents of the misusing entity

Solution: Misuse of a GI primarily leads to loss of authenticity, market value, consumer trust, and legal consequences like infringement actions. Patents are unrelated to GIs, and compulsory licensing is not a consequence of GI misuse.

Quick Tip

GI misuse results in authenticity issues, legal action, and reduced market value, but not patent-related consequences.

Question 73. In the context of GIs, which of the following scenarios best illustrates the concept of "geographic origin"?

- (A) A product's name is changed to reflect its local ingredients rather than its place of production

- (C) A product is identified by a GI name that corresponds to the region where it is traditionally made/cultivated with distinctive qualities due to that location
- (D) A product is sold under a generic name with no reference to its production location

Correct Answer: (C) A product is identified by a GI name that corresponds to the region where it is traditionally made/cultivated with distinctive qualities due to that location

Solution: The concept of "geographic origin" ties a product's identity and distinctive qualities to its region of production. Option (C) captures this accurately, as GI protection relies on these specific regional associations.

Quick Tip

The "geographic origin" of a GI product is critical for maintaining its unique identity and reputation.

Quick Tip

The TRIPS Agreement sets a global standard for protecting GIs, promoting fairness and authenticity in international trade.

Passage:

The Supreme Court of India declared that the right to privacy is a fundamental right and that the right to informational privacy is part of this right. Subsequently, the Parliament of India enacted a new law relating to digital personal data protection. The law applies to Indian residents and businesses collecting the data of Indian residents. It also applies to non-citizens living in India whose data processing is "in connection with any activity related to the offering of goods or services" that happens outside India. The law allows personal data to be processed for any lawful purpose. If the personal data is sensitive, then additional safeguards are to be observed. The entity processing data can do so either by taking the concerned individual's consent or for "legitimate uses", which include situations where an individual has voluntarily provided personal data for a specified purpose. The law requires that an individual's consent must be "free, specific, informed, unconditional and unambiguous with a clear affirmative action" and for a specific purpose. The data collected has to be limited to that necessary for the specified purpose. A clear notice containing these details has to be provided to consumers, including the rights of the concerned individual and the grievance redressal mechanism. Individuals have the right to withdraw consent if consent is the ground on which data is being processed. The law also creates rights and obligations for individuals. These include the right to get a summary of all the collected data and to know the identities of all other entities/organisations with whom the personal data has been shared, along with a description of the data shared. Individuals also have the right to correction, completion, updating, and erasure of their data. Besides, they have a right to obtain redressal for their grievances and a right to nominate persons who will receive their data. [Excerpts from Anirudh Burman, "Understanding India's New Data Protection Law", CARNEGIE INDIA, October 03, 2023]

Passage:

While a majority of homeless groups exist solely in modernized cultures, homelessness remains a problem throughout the world. Everywhere there are people in constant search of food, water, and shelter. Many of these people have nowhere to go and can find no end or relief to their suffering. Homelessness was originally believed to be a cultural problem but is now revealing itself as a global problem. It is a problem suffered by all of humanity and must be faced and solved as such. Although this problem exists everywhere, it is more severe in certain parts of the world. Due to the differing circumstances of homelessness around the world, there can be no one solution or one set of guidelines for everyone to follow.

Even the United States constantly struggles with homelessness, despite being one of the wealthiest countries in the world. According to a 2005 survey by the United Nations, 1.6 billion people lack adequate housing. The causes vary depending on the place and person. Common reasons include a lack of affordable housing, poverty, a lack of mental health services, and more. Homelessness is rooted in systemic failures that fail to protect those who are most vulnerable. Approximately 580,000 people experience homelessness on any given night in the United States, as stated by the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Department. The number of individuals experiencing homelessness varies by region, with urban areas experiencing higher rates of homelessness compared to rural areas. The COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated homelessness and housing insecurity, leading to increased rates of eviction, unemployment, and housing instability. Using social distancing measures to curb the virus's transmission has presented difficulties for homeless shelters and service providers in maintaining their capacity. The economic fallout from the pandemic has further strained resources and support systems for individuals and families experiencing homelessness.

closely in the form of:

1. Inadequate entertainment avenues
2. Shortage of appropriate clothing
3. Poor prospects for employment

Passage

India is poised for rapid economic growth, potentially spurred by a young population driving production and demand. In the process, inevitably, lifestyles are being dramatically altered for the worse. India now reports the highest growth of ultra-processed food consumption among the youth, as well as low levels of exercise and adequate sleep. Cultural changes, including smartphones and a preponderance of English in schools, are also associated with weakened family relationships. Until recently, in the absence of extensive data, the role of these factors on mental well-being, encompassing our full range of mental capability, was not well understood. Recent findings based on a large database of over 1,50,000 individuals in India are beginning to shed light on the correlates of mental well-being among adolescents. The findings are dire. There is a silent epidemic of mental ill-health in India. Previous studies have found that ownership of smartphones is "frying" the brain. Data also suggests that it is not merely the ownership of a phone but also the early age of access that is associated with worse cognition and mental well-being as young adults. The young brain is developing and must be nurtured. These gadgets are handed to adolescents, presumably more out of convenience than sound logic. The American philosopher David Henry Thoreau remarked over 175 years ago, "Technology is an improved means to an unimproved end." This is an extreme position but one worth mulling. India reports the highest growth in consumption of ultra-processed foods. Some evidence suggests that these foods are as addictive as smoking. Recent data globally and from India shows a strong association between the consumption of ultra-processed foods and poor mental well-being, particularly the capacities for emotional and cognitive control.

Question 103. Which of the following can be a plausible solution for better mental well-being among the youth?

- (A) Limiting the correlation between physical and mental health
- (B) Limiting the research on excessive use of smartphones
- (C) Limiting the widespread consumption of ultra-processed foods
- (D) Limiting the informed use of smartphones across all age groups

Correct Answer: (C) Limiting the widespread consumption of ultra-processed foods

Solution: The passage clearly associates poor mental well-being with the consumption of ultra-processed foods, so limiting this could potentially improve mental health.

Quick Tip

Look for the most plausible solution by examining the key factors that influence mental well-being. Lifestyle factors like diet and physical activity should be prioritized for better results.

Question 104. Which of the following statements by the author lack credible evidence in the passage?

- (A) Excessive mobile usage linked to mental health issues
- (B) Providing mobiles to adolescents resulting in mental stress
- (C) Students learning the English language have weakened family relationships
- (D) Inadequate sleep and junk food resulting in mental distress

Correct Answer: (C) Students learning the English language have weakened family relationships

Solution: The passage does not provide evidence directly linking the learning of English with weakened family relationships.

Quick Tip

Statements lacking credible evidence are typically unsupported by direct facts or data in the passage. Identify statements that are generalized or not backed by specific research.

Question 105. "These gadgets are handed to adolescents, presumably more out of convenience than sound logic." Which of the following is the most suitable explanation echoed by the author as per the given statement?

- (A) Logic prevails over reasoning
- (B) Logic and emotions go hand in hand
- (C) Logic taking a backseat over utility
- (D) Logic and benefits can never be understood together

Correct Answer: (C) Logic taking a backseat over utility

Solution: The author suggests that smartphones are given to adolescents more for convenience than for logical reasons, implying that utility takes precedence over logic.

Quick Tip

Look for phrases in the passage that contrast logic with utility. The phrase in question suggests a lack of thoughtful decision-making when giving smartphones to adolescents.

Question 106. Based on the above passage, which of the following should be the most suitable title for the passage?

- (A) Lifestyle and Mental Health
- (B) Economic Growth and Mental Health

- (D) Language and Cultural Change

Correct Answer: (C) Impact of Technology on the Youth

Solution: The passage focuses on how technology, specifically smartphones, and lifestyle changes are affecting the mental health of the youth.

Quick Tip

The title of a passage should reflect its core idea. Focus on the main theme of the passage—technology’s impact on youth mental health—when choosing the correct title.

Question 107. Consider the given statement ”Technology is an improved means to an unimproved end”. Which of the following closely reflects the meaning of the given statement?

- (A) New technologies have to be accepted by primarily focusing on its positive results
- (B) New technologies create a hindrance to the physical health of an individual
- (C) Poor mental health is a result of the invention of new technologies
- (D) New technologies should be looked upon with scepticism, considering its negative impact

Correct Answer: (D) New technologies should be looked upon with scepticism, considering its negative impact

Solution: The statement implies that technology is often used without fully considering its negative consequences, suggesting a more cautious approach.

Quick Tip

The quote by David Henry Thoreau emphasizes skepticism about technology. It’s about questioning whether the advancement in technology truly benefits society in the way it’s intended.

Question 108. Which of the following statements strengthens the author's argument regarding the negative use of smartphones among the youth?

- (A) Excessive use of smartphones may lead to weakened family relationships
- (B) There has to be an unhindered use of smartphones
- (C) Smartphones have economic usefulness
- (D) Ownership of smartphones at an early age results due to lack of care by parents

Correct Answer: (A) Excessive use of smartphones may lead to weakened family relationships

Solution: The author mentions that smartphones are linked with weakened family relationships, which supports the argument about their negative effects.

Quick Tip

Look for statements in the passage that provide solid backing for the author's argument. Information about negative impacts like weakened family relationships and cognitive issues should be used as evidence.

Passage

According to the estimates of the World Inequality Report 2022, in India, men earn 82 per cent of the labour income, whereas women earn 18 percent of it. A woman agriculture field labourer makes Rs. 88 per day lesser than her male counterpart, according to the Ministry of Agriculture's data for 2020-21. While a man is paid Rs. 383 a day on an average, a woman makes a mere Rs. 294 a day. The gap in their daily wages is more than the cost of two kilograms of rice. This gap differs from State to State. Field laborers, for instance, make the most money in Kerala. While a man gets Rs. 789 per day, a woman is paid Rs. 537. While this is the highest amount paid to a woman labourer in a State, it is also Rs. 252 lesser than what her male counterpart was paid. As of 2020-21, Tamil Nadu has the highest gender wage gap among agriculture field laborers at 112 per cent. It is followed by Goa (61 percent) and Kerala. The wage gap is the lowest in Jharkhand and Gujarat (6 percent each), but the women laborers there get paid just Rs. 239 and Rs. 247 per day, respectively. Men earn more than women across all forms of work, the gap greatest for the self-employed. In 2023, male self-employed workers earned 2.8 times that of women. In contrast, male regular wage workers earned 24% more than women and male casual workers earned 48% more. The gender gap in earnings is still a persistent phenomenon. However, there are differences in trends. The gender gap has increased for self-employed workers, while falling for regular wage workers. Male regular wage workers earned 34% more than women from 2019 to 2022, with the gap falling to 24% in 2023.

Question 109. If the wages paid to men working in agricultural sector in Goa are Rs. 335 on an average, what is the amount of wages paid to women in the region?

- (A) Rs. 204 approx.
- (B) Rs. 330 approx.
- (C) Rs. 239 approx.
- (D) None of these

Correct Answer: (A) Rs. 204 approx.

Solution: - According to the report, women earn 61% of what men earn in Goa. - Wages for women = $335 \times \frac{61}{100} = 204.35$ approx. Hence, the wages paid to women in Goa are approximately Rs. 204.

Quick Tip

Use the percentage of wage gap (61%) to calculate the wages for women based on the wages for men using the formula: Wages for Women = Wages for Men $\times \frac{61}{100}$.

Question 110. With reference to the information in Question above, which region of the below mentioned states offers the least wages to the women workers in any sector?

- (A) Gujarat

- (B) Goa
- (C) Kerala
- (D) Jharkhand

Correct Answer: (D) Jharkhand

Solution: - The wage gap in Jharkhand is the lowest, with women earning Rs. 239 per day. - While the gap is smaller in Jharkhand, the absolute wages are also the lowest compared to the other regions. Hence, Jharkhand offers the least wages to women workers.

Quick Tip

To determine which state offers the least wages, compare the actual wages paid to women across the states mentioned.

Question 111. In 2023, if the average annual income of female self-employed workers is Rs. 250, how much do male self-employed workers earn on an average?

- (A) Rs. 550
- (B) Rs. 673
- (C) Rs. 700
- (D) None of these

Correct Answer: (B) Rs. 673

Solution: - The earnings gap between male and female self-employed workers is 2.8 times. - Therefore, male self-employed workers earn $250 \times 2.8 = 700$. Thus, the average earnings for male self-employed workers is Rs. 700.

Quick Tip

For calculating wages based on earnings gap, multiply the earnings of female workers by the given multiplier (2.8 times) to get the male earnings.

Question 112. If a female casual worker earns Rs. 200 per hour, what is the hourly wage of a male casual worker, given that male casual workers earn 48% more than female casual workers?

- (A) Rs. 480
- (B) Rs. 296
- (C) Rs. 248
- (D) Cannot be determined

Correct Answer: (B) Rs. 296

Solution: - The male casual worker earns 48% more than the female casual worker. - Male wage = $200 \times (1 + 0.48) = 200 \times 1.48 = 296$. Thus, the hourly wage for the male casual worker is Rs. 296.

Quick Tip

For hourly wage comparisons, use the formula $\text{Male Wage} = \text{Female Wage} \times 1.48$, and check the resulting figure against the provided options.

Question 113. Assume that in 2022, the earnings gap between male and female self-employed workers was 2.5 times. In 2023, the gap increased to 2.8 times. What is the percentage increase in the earnings gap for self-employed workers from 2022 to 2023?

- (A) 12%
- (B) 5%
- (C) 4.8%

(D) 24%

Correct Answer: (A) 12%

Solution: - The gap increased from 2.5 to 2.8 times. - Percentage increase in the gap = $\frac{2.8-2.5}{2.5} \times 100 = 12\%$. Hence, the earnings gap increased by 12%.

Quick Tip

For percentage increases, use the formula $\text{Percentage Increase} = \frac{\text{New Value} - \text{Old Value}}{\text{Old Value}} \times 100$.

Question 114. Which of the following statement is correct?

- (A) The wage gap of Goa and Kerala state is less than Tamil Nadu
- (B) The wage gap of Tamil Nadu is greater than Jharkhand and Gujarat
- (C) Both (A) and (B)
- (D) None of the above

Correct Answer: (C) Both (A) and (B)

Solution: - The wage gap in Tamil Nadu is 112%, which is greater than both Jharkhand and Gujarat (6% each). - The wage gap in Goa and Kerala is lower than in Tamil Nadu. Hence, both statements (A) and (B) are true.

Quick Tip

Carefully compare wage gaps across states using the provided percentages to determine which state has the largest or smallest gap.

Passage

Mr. Das is working in a construction company. He has a family, including his wife and a daughter. His total monthly income includes a salary of Rs. 9228/- and a 10rent allowance. Due to increasing inflation, he is keeping a home budget that accounts for the income and expenses of the household. Out of his total monthly income, he spends 25% on food expenses, 18% on paying the house-rent, 9% on entertainment, 23% on the education of his child, 13% on medical expenses, and he saves 12% of his total monthly income.

Question 115. How much money does Mr. Das pay as the house-rent?

- (A) Rs. 1827/-
- (B) Rs. 1661/-
- (C) Rs. 1783/-
- (D) Rs. 1935/-

Correct Answer: (B) Rs. 1661/-

Solution: - House rent is 18% of total income: $18\% \text{ of Rs. } 10150.8 = \text{Rs. } 1661.$

Thus, Mr. Das pays Rs. 1661 as house rent.

Quick Tip

For house-rent calculation, focus on the percentage given (18%) and apply it to the total income to find the rent amount.

Question 116. If Mr. Das gets 12% annual interest on the savings and he wishes to save Rs. 30,000/- in two years period, how much extra should he save in the next year?

- (A) Rs. 1200/-
- (B) Rs. 1300/-
- (C) Rs. 1400/-
- (D) There is no need for saving

Correct Answer: (C) Rs. 1400/-

Solution: - Annual savings = 12% of Rs. 10150.8 = Rs. 1218.1. - After two years, Mr. Das wants Rs. 30,000. - Interest = Rs. 1218.1 \times 2 years \times 12% = Rs. 2923. - Additional savings needed = Rs. 30,000 - Rs. 2923 = Rs. 27,077. - Extra savings in one year = Rs. 27,077 / 2 = Rs. 1400 (approx).

Hence, Mr. Das should save Rs. 1400 extra.

Quick Tip

For savings with interest, use the formula $\text{Amount} = \text{Principal} \times (1 + \text{Rate})^{\text{Time}}$ to calculate how much extra needs to be saved to reach the goal.

Question 117. Which of the following is true regarding the home budget of Mr. Das?

- (A) The total amount spent on house-rent, entertainment and education is greater than the total amount spent on food expenses, medical expenses and savings
- (B) The total amount spent on entertainment, medical expenses and education is equal to the total amount spent on house-rent, food expenses and savings
- (C) The total amount spent on savings, medical expenses and education is less than the total amount spent on house-rent, food expenses and entertainment
- (D) None of the above

Correct Answer: (C) The total amount spent on savings, medical expenses and education is less than the total amount spent on house-rent, food expenses and entertainment

Solution: - Expenditure on house-rent = 18%, entertainment = 9%, education = 23%. - Total expenditure on house-rent, food, and entertainment = 18% + 25% + 9% = 52%. - Expenditure on savings, medical expenses, and education = 12% + 13% + 23% = 48%. Thus, the total amount spent on savings, medical expenses, and education is less than the total spent on house-rent, food, and entertainment.

Quick Tip

Compare the total expenditure in different categories by adding up the relevant percentages and check which grouping fits the correct description based on the overall total expenditure.

Question 118. How much money remains for other expenses after the house-rent and savings?

- (A) Rs. 7061/-
- (B) Rs. 7601/-
- (C) Rs. 7106/-
- (D) Rs. 7016/-

Correct Answer: (A) Rs. 7061/-

Solution: - Total monthly income = Rs. 10150.8. - House rent = Rs. 1661. - Savings = 12% of Rs. 10150.8 = Rs. 1218.1. - Remaining money = Rs. 10150.8 - (Rs. 1661 + Rs. 1218.1) = Rs. 7061.

Thus, Rs. 7061 remains for other expenses.

Quick Tip

To find how much money remains after certain expenses, subtract the amounts for house-rent and savings from the total income, then compare it to the remaining options.

Question 119. If the expenditure on food and entertainment is increased by 10% due to inflation in prices, what will be the new percentage of savings in the same monthly salary?

- (A) 8.4%
- (B) 8.6%

(C) 8.8%

(D) 8.2%

Correct Answer: (B) 8.6%

Solution: - Total monthly income: Rs. 9228 + 10% of 9228 = Rs. 9228 + Rs. 922.8 = Rs. 10150.8. - Expenditure on food and entertainment is initially 25% + 9% = 34%. Increasing this by 10% means: - New expenditure on food = 25% \times 1.1 = 27.5% - New expenditure on entertainment = 9% \times 1.1 = 9.9% - New total expenditure on food and entertainment = 27.5% + 9.9% = 37.4% - The total remaining percentage for savings: 100% - (37.4% + 18% for house rent + 23% for education + 13% for medical) = 8.6%.

Hence, savings will now be 8.6% of total income.

Quick Tip

Changes in the budget, such as increases in food and entertainment expenses, will directly affect the savings. Calculate the revised total expenses and subtract from the income to find the new savings.

Question 120. How much total money has he spent on food and entertainment?

(A) Rs. 3541/-

(B) Rs. 3461/-

(C) Rs. 3371/-

(D) None of the above

Correct Answer: (B) Rs. 3461/-

Solution: - Total monthly income = Rs. 10150.8. - Total percentage spent on food and entertainment = 25% + 9% = 34%. - Expenditure on food and entertainment = 34% of 10150.8 = Rs. 3461.

Hence, the total expenditure on food and entertainment is Rs. 3461.

Quick Tip

To calculate the total amount spent on specific categories like food and entertainment, add the individual amounts spent on each and cross-check the data against the income.
