Multiple choice type Question

1. Who has given the theory of population growth?

- (A) Spencer
- (B) Weber
- (C) Malthus
- (D) Sorokin

Correct Answer: (C) Malthus

Solution: Step 1: Understanding the Population Growth Theory

The theory of population growth was proposed by Thomas Robert Malthus. He introduced the Malthusian Theory of Population in his famous work, *An Essay on the Principle of Population (1798)*.

Step 2: Core Idea of Malthusian Theory

Malthus stated that population increases geometrically, while food supply grows arithmetically. As a result, unchecked population growth would lead to food shortages, famine, and societal problems.

Quick Tip

The Malthusian theory of population highlights the relationship between population growth and food supply. It suggests that without checks (like moral restraint or disasters), population growth will outpace food production.
